NEONATOLOGIST
Neonatal Intensive Care Unit, Windsor Regional Hospital
Division of Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine, Department of Paediatrics
Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry, Windsor Campus, Western University

The Division of Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine, Department of Paediatrics, Schulich School of Medicine & Dentistry, Windsor Campus, Western University, is seeking a Neonatologist with evidence of training in Targeted Neonatal Echocardiography and experience in meta-analysis for a faculty position in Windsor. Candidates having trained at an accredited Training Centre for TnECHO in North America with training in research methodologies in clinical research will be given priority. In addition to clinical, educational and scholarly activities in the Department of Paediatrics in the Neonatal Unit at Windsor Regional Hospital in collaboration with the Division of Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine of Schulich at the Children’s Hospital, London Health Sciences Centre (LHSC), he/she will work collaboratively to develop a regional presence in TnECHO in collaboration with other members of the Division of Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine and the Division of Paediatric Cardiology at Children’s Hospital. He/she will actively contribute to the undergraduate and postgraduate education, and research programs of the Division and Department. The successful applicant will also serve as a role model for our undergraduate medical students, paediatric residents and Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine Subspecialty Fellow/Residents.

Western University delivers an academic experience second to none. Western challenges the best and brightest faculty, staff and students to commit to the highest global standards. Our research excellence expands knowledge and drives discovery with real-world application. Western attracts individuals with a broad worldview, seeking to study, influence and lead in the international community. Since 1878, The Western Experience has combined academic excellence with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social and cultural growth in order to better serve our communities.

The Divisional members work closely in clinical, teaching and research with members of the Departments of Paediatrics (http://www.schulich.uwo.ca/paediatrics/) and Obstetrics & Gynaecology (http://www.schulich.uwo.ca/obgyn/). Collaborative research is also done with scientists at the Children’s Health Research Institute (CHRI) (www.chri.org) and with imaging scientists from the Robarts Research Institute and the Lawson Health Research Institute. The Neonatal Unit at Windsor Regional Hospital is a 24 bed Level II/Modified III Unit that serves the 500,000 people of Windsor and Essex County. Compensation for this position will be commensurate with qualifications and experience and will be primarily composed of an alternative funding plan and academic salary. The anticipated start date for this position is to be negotiated.

Please submit your application, including Curriculum Vitae, Letter of Interest/Statement of Academic Qualifications, and names and contact information of three academic references to:
