The Graduate Handbook is printed once a year. Interim revisions may be viewed on the Theory Centre’s web site at www.uwo.ca/theory.

Centre for the Study of Theory and Criticism
Somerville House, Room 2345

Phone (519) 661-3442
Fax (519) 850-2927
E-Mail: theory@uwo.ca
Web site: www.uwo.ca/theory

Acting Director: Dr. Allan Pero
Program Coordinator: Ms. Melanie Caldwell
TABLE OF CONTENTS

• GENERAL INFORMATION

• EVENTS

• PROGRAM APPLICATION & REQUIREMENTS
  M.A. Program
  Ph.D. Program

• FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

• TUITION AND FEES

• EXTERNAL SCHOLARSHIPS & GTASHIPS

• CENTRE FACILITIES

• GRADUATE STUDENT RESOURCES

• M.A. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS & REGULATIONS
  Course Requirements
  Language Requirement
  Thesis Requirements
  Stages and Deadlines
  Satisfactory Progress, Incompletes

• Ph.D. PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS & REGULATIONS
  Course Requirements
  Language Requirement
  Qualifying Examinations
  Dissertation Requirements
  Satisfactory Progress, Incompletes

• MAJOR COMMITTEES

• CORE FACULTY

• COURSES
GENERAL INFORMATION

The Centre for the Study of Theory and Criticism is an established forum for interdisciplinary research and advanced study in theory, as well as for theoretical problems that cross major fields and sub-disciplines in the Humanities and social sciences. The Centre was created in 1986 as Canada’s only centre for interdisciplinary theoretical research, in response to both the growing recognition of theory as an area with its own body of texts, and to the sense that departmental boundaries can limit intellectual efforts in areas where scholars from different disciplines find themselves dealing with similar issues. These include broad philosophical and methodological questions about art, culture, politics, and society not usually addressed except as an annex of disciplinary inquiry.

Research at the Centre focuses on the work of such movements as deconstruction, post-structuralism, semiotics, hermeneutics, phenomenology, the Frankfurt School, psychoanalysis, Marxism, and gender theory, as well as on areas such as continental philosophy and the history of thought that are part of the genealogy of contemporary theory. More broadly, it is concerned with the questions raised by these movements, and with constructing a dialogue both between theory and its history and between the disciplines or discourses that have contributed to contemporary theory. Courses at the Centre differ from theoretically oriented courses offered by other departments in focusing on theory as an object of enquiry in itself rather than on its application to a particular discipline. The distinction has proved itself important in ensuring that work at the Centre does not duplicate work that can be, or is, done in graduate programs in other departments.

Housed between the Faculties of Arts and Humanities, Information & Media Studies, and Social Sciences, the Centre encourages an interdisciplinary approach to theory and its histories. Since the inception of its M.A. program in 1990, the Centre has been the preferred destination for high caliber students from Canada and from abroad, and this tradition has continued at the doctoral level since the launching of the Ph.D. program in 2002. Through its programs and the work of its accomplished Core Faculty, the Centre has successfully established itself as one of Western’s most celebrated research intensive graduate programs.
EVENTS

The Centre sponsors a variety of seminars, conferences, publications and an active program of lectures and colloquia by both internal and external faculty, including the Centre’s own Interdisciplinary Graduate Student Conference.

In addition to the many books published by individual faculty members, collaborative projects include The Johns Hopkins Guide to Literary Theory and Criticism (eds. Groden, Kreiswirth and Szeman), and proceedings of two of our international conferences: Constructive Criticism: The Human Sciences in the Age of Theory (eds. Kreiswirth and Carmichael, University of Toronto Press, 1995) and After Poststructuralism: Writing the Intellectual History of Theory (eds. Rajan and O’Driscol, University of Toronto Press, 2002).

As part of its Interdisciplinary Speaker Series, the Centre brings in visiting lecturers from Canada and abroad. Speakers over the years have included Jean-Marie Apostolides, Jean Baudrillard, Peter Brooks, Wendy Brown, Norman Bryson, David Carroll, Anthony Cascardi, Jean-Joseph Goux, Elizabeth Grosz, N. Katherine Hayles, Agnes Heller, Linda Hutcheon, Michael Hardt, Martin Jay, Barbara Johnson, David Farrell Krell, Murray Krieger, Arthur Kroker, Dominick LaCapra, Judith Butler, Jerome McGann, Eduardo Mendieta, J. Hillis Miller, Chantal Mouffe, Christopher Norris, Dorothea Olkowski, Mark Poster, Richard Rorty, Charles Scott, Thomas Sebeok, Kaja Silverman, Gayatri Spivak, Bernard Stiegler, Samuel Weber, Hayden White, Slavoj Žižek, and many others.

Other relevant lecture series and colloquia organized by Centre faculty members include Romanticism at Western (J. Faflak and T. Rajan), Future Directions in Feminist Phenomenology (H. Fielding) Futures of Schelling: Second Annual Conference (T. Rajan), and the annual lecture program of the Centre for Advanced Research in European Philosophy at King’s University College (A. Calcagno).

The Theory Sessions, a student initiative, serves as a forum for the exchange of ideas to promote interdisciplinary research in theory at the Centre and across campus. Students and faculty present their papers and engage in spirited discussions, with contributions from interested Centre scholars as well as faculty and students from other fields and disciplines at Western including Anthropology, Business, Comparative Literature, English, French, Media Studies, Philosophy, Political Science, and Visual Arts.

Each year the Centre sponsors an Interdisciplinary Graduate Student Conference, organized by graduate students from the Theory Centre and contributing to the Centre’s stimulating intellectual and interdisciplinary atmosphere. Previous conferences have included ‘Aftermaths: Revolution and Recovery’, ‘The Artfulness of Play: Bridging Creative and Theoretical Discourses’, ‘Tactics of Resistance: Limitations & Possibilities’ and ‘Illusions of Identity: Resisting (beyond) Identity Politics’.
PROGRAM APPLICATION AND ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

M.A. PROGRAM
To be considered for admission to the M.A. program, applicants must normally possess a four-year degree from an accredited university with a minimum B+ (78%) average across courses taken in the last two full-time years of study. It is expected that most applicants will have their B.A. in a field in the Humanities or Social Sciences, however, students holding other Honours degrees will also be considered. Some demonstration of theoretical and/or interdisciplinary study at the undergraduate level is helpful, though the Committee may also consider candidates with a more general interest in and aptitude for theoretical enquiry (as indicated through grades, essays and letters of reference).

Ph.D. PROGRAM
For admission to the Doctoral program, applicants must possess a Master’s degree or equivalent with a minimum A- (83%) average, as well as provide evidence of research potential. Normally, an M.A. in a Humanities or Social Science subject and significant evidence of previous theoretical work, indicated by the applicant's course record and in writing samples, are submitted as part of the application.

Applications to the program are accepted once per year, for Fall admission. Online applications are to be submitted electronically through the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies at http://grad.uwo.ca The deadline to apply is January 15th; applications may be considered after this date only if spaces remain.

Applicants are required to submit the following documentation by the deadline:

Online Application, including:
- Contact Information for two (2) Academic Referees
- Statement of Interest in the program
- Academic Transcript from each post-secondary institution attended
- Two (2) essays or appropriate writing samples
- Official proof of proficiency in English (if required)
- Application fee (paid at time of application)

The statement of interest in the program (no more than 2 pp.) should indicate the range of the applicant’s interests and preparation in theory, outline the kind of work s/he is interested in doing at the Centre, and may indicate a possible area of interest for the thesis.
FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

If accepted into the program, the Offer of Admission letter will provide the recipient with specific details of their total support package for the duration of the program.

All students accepted into the program are automatically considered for a Western Graduate Research Scholarship (WGRS), designed to cover a substantial portion of tuition fees during the eligible period of funding. These scholarships are available to both domestic and International graduate students. To be eligible, students must be registered full-time and meet the program conditions for progression towards their degree. The WGRS is automatically applied to the recipient’s Student Centre account and applied towards any outstanding tuition fees. The funding package may include an assignment as a Graduate Teaching or Research Assistant, though the program guarantees Ph.D. students at least one year without TA or RA duties if they so wish. Please note that funding received from a GTAship or GRAship is included as part of, not in addition to, a student’s total support package.

Graduate Teaching and Research Assistantships are assigned based on availability and a student’s academic background. Placements cannot be guaranteed. Placements are made in departments affiliated with the Centre, and every attempt is made to match teaching assistants with the most suitable course and/or instructor.

Each GTA is provided with an employment contract from the Theory Centre. The host program (where the GTA is placed) provides a Duties Specification Letter (DSL). The GTA contract indicates the amount of money, the duration and the assignment of the GTA. The DSL is a list of hours per duty, and is prepared and signed by the course instructor and signed by the GTA.

Graduate student funding comes from a variety of sources, and sometimes this results in different levels of financial support in the Fall and Winter terms. Note: GTAs and GRAs are paid in equal monthly installments on the second-last working day of each month. This means that students may need to cover their tuition fees up front. Prospective applicants are also strongly urged to apply for external scholarships for which they are eligible, and continuing students are required to apply for these awards (see External Scholarships).

M.A. students are funded for a maximum of two years and Ph.D. students for a maximum of four years. Ph.D. students transferring from another doctoral program at Western may have their period of funding eligibility reduced.

The Centre welcomes applications from International students. International students are required by the provincial government to pay higher fees than domestic students. However all international students will be considered for a range of funding packages. In the case of applicants to the Ph.D. these will, at the minimum, offset the difference in fees.
The Graduate Student Conference Travel Fund is available to Theory Centre students to help support costs directly related to their participation in a conference, including registration, travel, accommodation and other related expenses. To be eligible, a student must be presenting a paper at a recognized scholarly peer-reviewed conference. Students who meet the criteria are eligible to receive up to $600 per year. Approval must be given by the program and all original receipts for expenses claimed must be provided. Please contact the Program Coordinator for details.

The Graduate Thesis Research Fund (GTRF) is available to full-time graduate students in Theory and Criticism to help support costs of research directly related to the successful completion of their thesis/dissertation. Funds for this award are provided exclusively by the program, up to $750 each dependent on the number of applications. Applications should be submitted to the Theory Centre in early February.

TUITION AND FEES

Graduate student registration runs on three cycles (Fall, Winter, Summer) and consists of two separate procedures: 1) tuition and fee payment per term, and 2) course enrolment per term.

Fall tuition fees include a full year’s coverage under the student health plan. This means that your fees in the Fall term will be slightly higher than those in the Winter and Summer terms. To view the current term’s tuition and ancillary fees, please visit the Office of the Registrar: www.registrar.uwo.ca

Internal Funding: Most graduate students will see their fall tuition fees appear on the Student Center by mid-August of each year. If you are receiving a WGRS in that term, you will see this amount appear as “Anticipated Aid”. The WGRS will be applied directly towards any outstanding tuition fees. The balance of your WGRS, if any, will be paid to you by cheque or direct deposit in mid-September. The same process takes place in the Winter and Summer terms (January and May).

EXTERNAL SCHOLARSHIPS

As noted above, applicants to the program are strongly urged to apply for external support in the form of an Ontario Graduate Scholarship (OGS), Canadian Graduate Scholarship (CGS), and Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council scholarship (SSHRC). During their period of fundability, continuing M.A. and Ph.D. students must apply for any external awards for which they are eligible. The program reserves the right to adjust the amount of WGRS and/or GTA/GRA support awarded to recipients of external scholarships, which may therefore vary between terms.
The program’s goal is to ensure that all students receive adequate funding, while at the same time recognizing and rewarding those who receive external awards. Thus, although major award holders receive less support from the program, they are recognized with a Centre Excellence Award. This applies only to students within the normal funding period.

CENTRE FACILITIES

Student Mailboxes are provided in the Theory Centre lounge. Any documentation arriving from the Registrar’s Office, the SGPS, or the program will be deposited to your mailbox. A mailbox key is assigned at the start of your studies for a small deposit.

Computer facilities are made available in the Centre’s lab. The computer lab houses twelve locking work stations. All computers are connected to a network printer/copier/scanner. Students are required to provide their own paper for printing. In addition, there is a telephone for local calls. There is a separate graduate study work space in the lower level of Somerville House (Rm. 1335).

GRADUATE STUDENT RESOURCES

Society of Graduate Students (SOGS)
All graduate students are automatically members of SOGS, dedicated to providing the information, assistance, and services necessary to help graduate students successfully complete their goals while at Western. SOGS provides many benefits to its members, and plays a key role in advocacy work. In addition, SOGS provides Bursary, Scholarship, Travel awards, Subsidy and Emergency Loans to graduate students. If you are interested in becoming a councillor for the Centre, contact SOGS directly.

Graduate Teaching Assistant’s Union (GTA Union)
The GTA Union is composed solely of Graduate Teaching Assistants (GTAs) at Western. Through periodic negotiations with the University, the Union establishes a Collective Agreement which defines GTA working conditions, compensation, and benefits. The Union provides extended health benefits, bursaries, and scholarships.

The Student Centre
The Student Centre is your online resource for updating your current address, viewing your academic record, course Information, and your tuition and fee statement of account. Visit the student centre at www.student.uwo.ca/

The Graduate Calendar
The School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies (SGPS) provides the graduate calendar online. This is the best place to look for deadline dates and registration Information: www.grad.uwo.ca
Western Graduate Student Services Portal
The Western Graduate Student Services Portal allows students to apply online for a Change of Status (i.e.: Leave of Absence, Thesis Only Status, Request for Part-Time Status, Voluntary Withdrawal). www.grad.uwo.ca/student/index.cfm

The Office of the Registrar
Provides general information about course timetables, tuition and fees, convocation information, T2202s (tuition tax form), etc. www.registrar.uwo.ca

Health and Wellness
As part of a successful graduate student experience at Western, we encourage students to make their health and wellness a priority. Western provides several on-campus health-related services to help you achieve optimum health and engage in healthy living while pursuing your graduate degree. For example, to support physical activity, all students, as part of their registration, receive membership in Western’s Campus Recreation Centre. Numerous cultural events are offered throughout the year. Please check out the Faculty of Music web page http://www.music.uwo.ca/, and our own McIntosh Gallery http://www.mcintoshgallery.ca/. Information regarding health- and wellness-related services available to students may be found at http://www.health.uwo.ca/.

Students seeking help regarding mental health concerns are advised to speak to someone they feel comfortable confiding in, such as their faculty supervisor, their program director (graduate chair), or other relevant administrators in their unit. Campus mental health resources may be found at http://www.health.uwo.ca/mental_health/resources.html.

To help you learn more about mental health, Western has developed an interactive mental health learning module, found here: http://www.health.uwo.ca/mental_health/module.html. This module is 30 minutes in length and provides participants with a basic understanding of mental health issues and of available campus and community resources. Topics include stress, anxiety, depression, suicide and eating disorders. After successful completion of the module, participants receive a certificate confirming their participation.
PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS AND REGULATIONS – M.A. PROGRAM

The M.A. program takes two years to complete and involves course work, a language requirement, and a thesis.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS: Groups A, B and C.

Students are required to take six half courses or equivalent during their two years of study: four in the first year and two in the second. Since this distribution is intended to allow them to concentrate on the thesis during the second year, permission to do fewer than four courses in the first year must be sought from the Graduate Studies Committee (GSC). Students are required to fulfill a “breadth requirement” by taking at least one half course from each of Group A (aesthetics, philosophy, psychoanalysis, language theory) and Group B (social, cultural and political theory). In contrast to the more specialized courses in Group C, these courses have a topical focus but are also designed to cover a variety of theorists from the above areas, and to introduce students to nineteenth-century and modern, as well as to contemporary theory. The breadth requirement can be fulfilled over two years.

With some exceptions, graduate courses in Theory and Criticism are limited to no more than twelve (12) students. Pre-registering in a course does not guarantee that you will be able to take the course. During the summer incoming M.A. students will be asked to list six courses in which they would like to enrol. Every attempt will be made to give students their first four choices, but this may not always be possible. M.A. students will nevertheless be guaranteed their first choice of an A and B course. Continuing students will be asked to list four courses in which they would like to enrol and are guaranteed their first choice.

Students may also enroll in graduate courses in other programs that take up theory and criticism, subject to the approval of the Director and Graduate Studies Committee. Students may take up to two such half-courses, provided that they are relevant to the program of study. They should submit a formal request, including the course syllabus, outlining how the course is relevant to their research at the Theory Centre. Requests should be submitted no later than the start of term (September 1/January 1/May 1). In order to ensure a place in the course, students must also submit a Request to Enrol in Graduate Course Outside Home Program form.

In exceptional circumstances students may fulfill one of their six course requirements by taking a Directed Reading course. Students should, however, be aware that instructors receive no credit for teaching reading courses. Reading courses are given on a Pass/Fail basis, must meet for the same number of hours as a regular course, cannot be specifically oriented to the student’s thesis, and will not be approved if there is a regular course that covers approximately the same material. Requests for directed reading courses (including syllabus, letter of consent... from the instructor, etc.) must be submitted no later than six weeks before the beginning of the semester in which the course is to be taken. Please consult the Director for further details.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT
In order to graduate with a degree in Theory and Criticism, students must demonstrate a reading knowledge of one language other than English that is relevant to their research. Students are strongly encouraged to complete this requirement in their first year. Students who have already satisfied this requirement through previous post-secondary studies should consult with the Director at the start of the program.

There are three ways of satisfying the language requirement:

1. Placement Test - For those who are fairly fluent but whose proficiency is not reflected in formal course preparation. The language department administers a test to determine students' proficiency. The test is computerised and takes approximately one hour. Once completed, the results should be printed and returned to the Director of the Centre for evaluation.

2. Undergraduate Course work - A grade of 70% or higher in a full year introductory course. Note registration in an undergraduate course requires the submission of an Add Undergraduate Course form.

3. French 9005 - A non-credit course to help graduate students attain a reading knowledge of French. The course provides basic tools to understand French texts and to translate them. It is not meant to help students speak French, nor does it focus on French writing. This is an independent reading course for students who are willing to work independently. Those who want the structure of a regular class and practice in speaking as well as reading should take option 2.

Note: Students enrolling in languages courses through the Department of Modern Languages may take those languages Pass/Fail. You must indicate that you wish to take the course Pass/Fail at the time of enrollment (registration status cannot be changed retroactively). If you have questions, please consult the Program Coordinator.

THESIS REQUIREMENTS

Each M.A. student is required to write a thesis. The thesis is a formal statement of the theory, source materials, methodology, and findings of a student's major research project. It must be between 25,000 and 35,000 words, excluding bibliography and non-substantive appendices. All program requirements (including language requirement) must be completed before submission of a thesis for oral examination.

Each student writing a thesis must have a Thesis Supervisory Committee consisting of:
A Supervisor: This individual plays a key role in the direction of the student’s research, providing advice and criticism on the planning and writing of the thesis. The chief supervisor must be a member of the Centre's Core Faculty. This designation ensures that the faculty member has the appropriate level of supervisory membership and primary responsibility for overseeing the Master’s thesis research. Although every effort will be made to accommodate the student's research preferences, the program cannot guarantee a particular supervisor.

A Second Reader: An additional core faculty member, preferably representing a different discipline from that of the supervisor, who provides another perspective on the formulation and direction of the thesis, but does not read the thesis in its entirety. S/he also serves on the “hearing committee” [see below], as well as on the examining committee.

STAGES AND DEADLINES

All deadlines listed below are absolute and affect grading and progress in the program.

Year I, September – Preparation
Through meetings with the Director, Associate Director, instructors and/or faculty mentors, the student should begin thinking about a suitable thesis topic, a supervisor, and a second reader. Begin by browsing through the faculty listings in this Handbook, and discussing possible thesis topics informally with faculty who specialize in your area of interest. Approach any faculty of interest and ask whether or not they will supervise your thesis. If so, then you and/or the supervisor should approach another core faculty member about acting as second reader for the thesis. The selection of a topic and a second reader that is satisfactory to the student as well as the supervisor may require a considerable amount of exploration.

Year I, January 15 – Selection of Research Topic and Committee
By January 15 of the first year, the student must submit to the GSC for approval the names of a potential supervisor and second reader and a provisional title or research area for the thesis. Please note that an individual faculty member is not allowed to be chief supervisor for more than two Centre M.A. students from any given year.

Year I, April 1 – Submission of Proposal
Working with the supervisor, the student must submit:
(a) a 10-12 page draft proposal, incorporating within it a rationale for its interdisciplinary and theoretical nature, and a preliminary bibliography (2-3 pp.)
(b) a 2-3 page abstract of the proposal (and the preliminary bibliography)

Year I, April 15-30 – Proposal Hearing
The student will attend a “thesis hearing” at which s/he will discuss the proposal with a committee chosen for this purpose by the GSC. The hearing committee will consist of the supervisor, the second reader, and a member of the GSC, all of whom will have read the draft proposal in advance. The purpose of the hearing is to provide feedback on the proposal and examine its merits, as well as its feasibility. The GSC member will provide a short report on the hearing to the GSC. The 2-3 page abstract will also be circulated to the GSC for possible feedback and final approval. The thesis hearing appears on the student’s transcript, and a grade of “PASS” is necessary for completion of the first year of the program.

Year I, June 15 – Revisions
If the proposal requires revisions, the student will submit a final proposal to the members of the hearing committee and a further meeting may be required. The student will have revised the proposal, taking into account feedback from the hearing committee and the GSC.

Year II, September 15 – Thesis Draft
The student will submit to the supervisor and second reader a draft of a portion of the thesis (approx. 25 pp.; not the revised proposal). The supervisor and second reader will submit assessments of this draft to the Director. If appropriate (in terms of the second reader’s expertise), the student may submit a later section of the thesis to the second reader instead of the chapter/section submitted in September.

Year II, December to April – Thesis Preparation
The student continues to work with the supervisor, submitting drafts of individual chapters for feedback. Students must keep their supervisor closely apprized of their progress. However, ultimate responsibility for the quality of the thesis rests with the student. The supervisors are expected to provide intellectual advice and guidance but not to “edit” the thesis.

As you approach the completion of the dissertation, you must build in enough time for your supervisor to review your final complete draft, as well as sufficient time for you to make necessary revisions. Very often this means submitting the final complete draft of the dissertation to your committee at the beginning of the term in which you plan to defend (usually the 6th term of enrolment). When the supervisor is satisfied that the thesis is ready, it will be submitted for examination as outlined below.

Year II, May to August – Final Thesis Submission
M.A. examinations are scheduled through the program using the following timeline:

- 4 Weeks to Examination: Program must submit names of examiners to SGPS
- 3 Weeks to Examination: Candidate submits approved thesis to the program

Thesis Examining Committee and Defense
The thesis will be examined by three faculty members, consisting of the second reader, a further examiner from the program, and a faculty member from another department who is not a member of the Core Faculty of the Centre. The committee is chosen by the Director in consultation with the supervisor. The student should not approach potential examiners on his or her own. At the defense itself students should be prepared to describe their research in a 10 minute opening presentation. Thesis submission guidelines are posted on the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies (SGPS) web site at www.uwo.ca/grad.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS, INCOMPLETES AND FINANCIAL SUPPORT

In order to continue receiving funding, students must make satisfactory progress in the program. The term “satisfactory progress” pertains to completion of the language requirement, completion of course work, and progress on work for the thesis. All cases of “unsatisfactory progress” will be considered by the Graduate Studies Committee, and can result in withdrawal of funding as well as withdrawal from the program, and will affect rankings for external scholarships.

a) Language requirement
All entering students should discuss their schedule for completing the language requirement with the Director. Please note that a student cannot defend his or her thesis or graduate if the language requirement has not been fulfilled.

b) Course work
“Satisfactory progress” constitutes the timely completion of each course with a grade of 78% or above.

A student may request an incomplete (INC) without penalty on compassionate or medical grounds. In such cases, the student must make a written request to both the instructor and the Director no later than the last day of class, no exceptions. The written request must include a) the date by which the remaining work will be completed, and b) (where relevant) a certificate from a physician. This request will be forwarded to the GSC for approval. Permission from the instructor is not a guarantee that the INC request will be granted. Unless there are extenuating circumstances, the student will not be allowed to carry more than one INC in a semester.

The INC will be changed to a grade only if the work is completed by the grade submission deadline. The student must notify the Centre that the work has been submitted. If a grade is not submitted by this deadline, the INC becomes a Failure. An 'F' grade resulting from an INC is final. Failure to comply with this regulation will constitute “unsatisfactory” progress according to the Centre’s regulations and will jeopardize funding.

c) Thesis
“Satisfactory” progress in thesis work consists of a) completion of the thesis hearing and final version of the thesis prospectus by June 15th of Year 1; b) completion of the first thesis chapter by September 15th of year 2.

APPEALS
Procedures for making an appeal are available in the Handbook of Academic and Scholarship Policy at: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/appealsgrad.pdf. Appeals may result in the raising or lowering of an original grade.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS AND REGULATIONS – Ph.D. PROGRAM

The Ph.D. program requires the completion of course work, two qualifying examinations, a language requirement, and a dissertation. Normal time to completion is four years.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS
Students are required to take six half-courses or equivalent, chosen from groups A, B or C (see ‘Courses’), at least four of which must be taken at the Centre to ensure that there is an adequate coverage of theoretical figures and issues. Students will normally take four courses in the first year and two in the second. Since this distribution is intended to ensure that all course work and qualifying examinations are completed during the first two years of the program, permission to do fewer than four courses in the first year must be sought from the Graduate Studies Committee.

With some exceptions, graduate courses in Theory and Criticism are limited to no more than twelve (12) students. Pre-registering in a course does not guarantee that you will be able to take the course. During the summer incoming Ph.D. students will be asked to list six courses in which they would like to enrol. Students are guaranteed their first choice course and every attempt will be made to give them their other top choices, but this may not always be possible. Continuing Ph.D. students will be asked to list four courses in which they would like to enrol and are guaranteed their first choice.

Students may enroll in graduate courses in other programs concerned with theory and criticism, with the approval of the Director and GSC. They may take up to two such half-courses, provided that they are relevant to the program of study. Students should submit a formal request, including the course syllabus, outlining how the course is relevant to their research at the Theory Centre. Requests should be submitted no later than the start of term (September 1/January 1/May 1). In order to ensure a place in the course, students must also submit a Request to Enrol in Graduate Course Outside Home Program form.

In exceptional circumstances students may fulfill one of their six course requirements by taking a Directed Reading course. Students should, however, be aware that instructors receive no credit for teaching reading courses. Reading courses are given on a Pass/Fail basis, must meet for the same number of hours as a regular course, cannot be specifically oriented to the student’s thesis, and will not be approved if there is a regular course that covers approximately the same material. Requests for directed reading courses (including syllabus, letter of consent from the instructor, etc.) must be submitted no later than six weeks before the beginning of the semester in which the course is to be taken. Please consult the Director for further details.

LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

In order to graduate with a degree in Theory and Criticism, students must demonstrate a reading knowledge of one language other than English that is relevant to their research. Students who have already satisfied this requirement through previous post-secondary studies should consult with the Director at the start of the program.

There are three ways of satisfying the language requirement:

1. Placement Test – For those who are fairly fluent but whose proficiency is not reflected in formal course preparation. The language department administers a test to determine students' proficiency. The test is computerised and takes approximately one hour. Once completed, the results should be printed and returned to the Director of the Centre for evaluation.

2. Undergraduate Course work – a grade of 70% or higher in a full year language course that is beyond the level of senior matriculation (numbered 1900 - 4999). Note registration in an undergraduate course requires the submission of an Add Undergraduate Course form.

3. French 9005 – A non-credit course to help graduate students attain a reading knowledge of French. The course provides basic tools to understand French texts and to translate them. It is not meant to help students speak French, nor does it focus on French writing. This is an independent reading course for students who are willing to work independently. Those who want the structure of a regular class and practice in speaking as well as reading should take option 2.

Note: Students enrolling in languages courses through the Department of Modern Languages may take those languages Pass/Fail. You must indicate that you wish to take the course Pass/Fail at the time of enrollment (registration status cannot be changed retroactively). If you have questions, please consult the Centre.

QUALIFYING EXAMINATION and FIELD STUDY

Ph.D. candidates are required to pass the Core Examination and Field Study before proceeding to the doctoral dissertation. The Core Examination and Field Study are to be completed during the second year of study. Students must declare their intention to take the examination by May 31 of their first year (Term 3).

The Core Examination consists of a written examination based on a reading list of approximately fifty books or equivalents (chapters/articles), and is to be completed during the second year of the Ph.D. There will be two annual sittings of the Core Examination: the first in late September, and the second in early February. Students, especially those with sufficient theoretical preparation, are strongly encouraged to write the examination at the Fall sitting. The exam is assigned both a Pass/Fail and a numeric grade, the latter to be recorded only internally within CSTC. At the Centre, 70% is considered a passing grade, and grades of 85% and over carry the designation "With Distinction", which will be recorded on the transcript. The student is notified of the results of the exam by the Chair of the examining committee. A candidate may fail and retake the Core Examination once. A candidate who fails the Core Examination a second time will be required to withdraw from the program.

The Field Study is an opportunity to define an area of interdisciplinary theory related to the student’s dissertation project. It involves submission of a written text, followed by an oral hearing in which this text is discussed with the student by a three-person committee.

Candidates will first prepare and submit a 20-25 page text based on a list of 25 texts (over and above any texts drawn from the Core Examination list), and selected in consultation with the supervisor and second reader. In addition to this 20-25 page text, the student should include a Bibliography of 25 works, and a 2 page synopsis. These three components (20-25 page text, bibliography and synopsis) must be submitted no less than two weeks prior to the oral hearing.

The text and bibliography will then be discussed with the student at a “field study hearing.” The Field Study committee consists of the supervisor, second reader, and a third person chosen by the Director in consultation with the supervisor and student. The Field Study (written submission and oral discussion) is assigned a Pass/Fail. Candidates have until May 15 of their second year to submit the written components, with the oral hearing to occur within 2-3 weeks of submission. A candidate may fail and retake the Field Study once. A candidate who passes the Core Examination but fails the Field Study twice will be required to withdraw from the Program.

The Field Study bears a close relationship to the dissertation and can be thought of as something like a potential introduction to it, though it may in practice be significantly modified in the process of writing the dissertation. A short, 4-5 page Thesis Proposal will be due 2 weeks after the Field Study Hearing. This document may incorporate the 2-page synopsis, appropriately modified in the light of discussion, but must also contain a chapter or section outline. The student must discuss the proposal with his/her committee prior to submitting it to the Graduate Studies Committee. Final approval of the Thesis Proposal by the Graduate Studies Committee will be understood as the Program’s approval for the candidate to proceed with the proposed dissertation project.

SUMMARY OF SCHEDULE – CORE EXAM

Year I, May 31 – Date by which candidate must declare intention to take examination
Year II, November 15 – Date by which the candidate must meet with chair of examining committee

Year II, late September (option 1) – Core Examination to be taken during designated week
Year II, early February (option 2) – Core Examination to be taken during designated week

SUMMARY OF SCHEDULE – FIELD STUDY AND THESIS PROPOSAL

Year I, May 31 – Date by which candidate must declare intention to take examination

Year II: May 15 – Date by which candidate must submit the written components of the Field Study. The hearing date will be determined by the candidate, in consultation with the committee, and will normally be 2-3 weeks after submission. If a student submits the written components earlier than May 15th, an earlier examination may be arranged.

Year II, June: Two weeks after the Field Study hearing the Thesis Proposal must be submitted to and discussed with the supervisory committee prior to being submitted to the Graduate Studies Committee for final approval.

Detailed Information on the Qualifying Examinations, including the Reading List, can be found online at http://www.uwo.ca/theory/Current/Ph.D..html

DISSERTATION REQUIREMENTS

Each Ph.D. student is required to write a dissertation, which is expected to be an original contribution to knowledge. The dissertation must be no fewer than 60,000 words, excluding bibliography and appendices, and must not exceed 100,000 words. All program requirements (including language requirement) must be completed before submission of a thesis for oral examination.

Each student must have a Thesis Supervisory Committee consisting of:

A Supervisor: This individual plays a key role in the direction of the student’s research, providing advice and criticism on the planning and writing of the thesis. The chief supervisor must be a member of the Centre's Core Faculty. This designation ensures that the faculty member has the appropriate level of supervisory membership and primary responsibility for overseeing the Doctoral dissertation research. Although every effort will be made to accommodate the student's research preferences, the program cannot guarantee a particular supervisor.

A Second Reader: An additional core faculty member, preferably representing a different discipline from that of the supervisor, who provides another perspective on the formulation and direction of the thesis. The second reader assists in the development of the candidate's research plan and thesis proposal and generally reads and advises on the entire dissertation. In rare cases where the second reader has not read the entire dissertation, s/he may serve as an examiner.

1. Year II, Fall term
   During the first term of the second year of the program, the student, with the help of the Director, must choose an area of study for dissertation research and an appropriate supervisor. Selection must be made and submitted for approval no later than December 20th of the second year.

2. Year II, September/February & May
   Qualifying examinations are to be completed in the second year of study.

3. Year II, June
   Working with his/her supervisor and any other potential members of the advisory committee, the student must submit a dissertation proposal, including bibliography, by the middle of the 6th term of study. This proposal will be due 2 weeks after the Field Study, and will be the subject of a meeting between the candidate, his/her supervisor, and second reader.

4. Dissertation
   As described above, each student will write a dissertation on an approved topic, based upon original research conducted while registered in the Ph.D. program, which will be presented in appropriate dissertation form for examination. Please remember that the dissertation must be submitted to SGPS six weeks prior to the defence date. As you approach the completion of the dissertation, you must build in enough time for your committee to review your final complete draft, as well as sufficient time for you to make necessary revisions. Very often this means submitting the final complete draft of the dissertation to your committee in the term preceding the one in which you plan to defend. When the supervisory committee is satisfied that the thesis is ready, it will be examined by a thesis examination board, chosen according to the guidelines for Ph.D. theses set by the School of Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies (SGPS).

   Ultimate responsibility for the quality of the dissertation lies with the student. Please note that the committee is there to provide intellectual advice and guidance, but cannot “edit” the dissertation. Work on the dissertation begins after the student has passed the Core Examination in February of Year 2, since the Field Examination is closely related to the dissertation and is meant to kickstart the writing process. Students thus have roughly 7 terms to complete the dissertation during their funding period.

DISSERTATION EVALUATION PROCEDURES

The dissertation will be examined by four faculty members, including an external examiner, an examiner from another department, and two program examiners. In rare cases, if the second reader has not read the entire thesis, s/he may serve as a program examiner. The committee is chosen by the Director in consultation with the supervisor. The student should not approach potential examiners on his or her own. As of May 2012, SGPS regulations state that the student is required to give a 45 minute Public Lecture on the material of his or her dissertation on the day of, or the day before, the defense. Alternatively this requirement can be satisfied by giving a talk in the Theory Sessions in the year of the defense. If the second option is followed, the student must describe his or her research in a ten minute opening presentation at the defense.

Ph.D. examinations are scheduled through SGPS using the following timeline:

7 Weeks to Examination: Program must submit names of examiners to SGPS
6 Weeks to Examination: Candidate submits the approved thesis to SGPS

Thesis submission guidelines are posted on the SGPS web site at www.uwo.ca/grad.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS, INCOMPLETES and FINANCIAL SUPPORT

In order to continue receiving funding, students must make satisfactory progress in the program. The term “satisfactory progress” pertains to completion of the language requirement, completion of course work, completion of qualifying examinations, and progress on work for the thesis. All cases of “unsatisfactory progress” will be considered by the Graduate Studies Committee and may result in withdrawal of funding as well as withdrawal from the program.

a) Language Requirement

All entering students should discuss their schedule for completing the language requirement with the Director. Please note that a student cannot defend his or her thesis or graduate if the language requirement has not been fulfilled.

b) Course work

“Satisfactory progress” constitutes the timely completion of each course with a grade of 78% or above.

A student may request an incomplete (INC) without penalty on compassionate or medical grounds. In such cases, the student must make a written request to both the instructor and the Director no later than the last day of class, no exceptions. The written request must include a) the date by which the remaining work will be completed, and b) (where relevant) a certificate from a physician. This request will be forwarded to the GSC for approval. Permission from the instructor is not a guarantee that the INC request will be granted. Unless there are extenuating circumstances, the student will not be allowed to carry more than one INC in a semester.

The INC will be changed to a grade only if the work is completed by the grade submission deadline for the term following. The student must notify the Centre that the work has been submitted. If a grade is not submitted by this deadline, the INC becomes a Failure. An 'F' grade resulting from an INC is final. The SGPS will not consider a revision of the grade except on documented medical or compassionate grounds. Failure to comply with this regulation will constitute “unsatisfactory” progress according to the Centre’s regulations and will jeopardize funding.

20

c) Qualifying Examination and Field Study “Satisfactory progress” of the Qualifying examinations includes a) the completion of the Core Exam in the second year (Term 4 or 5) of study, and b) submission of the field study by May 15th of the 2nd year, followed by a discussion of this submission.

d) Annual Progress Report
All students in Year III and beyond must complete an annual progress report with their supervisory committee. For the progress report the student must also submit a draft portion of the thesis. The student will discuss the draft material with his or her committee and complete the required portions of the report, to be submitted to the program Director.

e) Dissertation
“Satisfactory progress” in thesis work consists of a) choosing an area of study for dissertation research and a supervisor by the end of the 4th term of registration (December 20th of Year II); and b) submission of a dissertation proposal, including bibliography, by the beginning of the 6th term of registration (June 1 of Year II)

APPEALS
Procedures for making an appeal are available in the Handbook of Academic and Scholarship Policy at: http://www.uwo.ca/univsec/handbook/appeals/appealsgrad.pdf. Appeals may result in the raising or lowering of an original grade.
MAJOR CENTRE COMMITTEES

Membership of all committees is by election for fixed, staggered terms.

Graduate Studies Committee (GSC)
The GSC is the Centre’s most active committee. It deals with all policy and practical issues pertaining to the graduate program: admissions, student progress, ranking of scholarship applications, approval of M.A. and Ph.D. thesis proposals, selection of courses to be offered, and more general policy matters relevant to the graduate program. The GSC also approves requests for reading courses, courses taken in other departments, and Incompletes etc.

Membership:
Director of the Centre (Chair)
Four (4) Core Faculty members
One (1) Ph.D. rep
One (1) M.A. rep

Steering Advisory Committee (SAC)
The SAC consists of three faculty members, two student representatives, and the Deans of the three faculties in which the Centre is housed. The faculty members thus form a liaison between the Centre and the Deans. Responsibilities of this committee are to promote the continued success of the Centre, and to provide advice on administrative matters and issues relating to the direction and management of both the Centre’s research and graduate programs.

Membership:
Dean of Social Science (Chair)
Dean of Arts & Humanities
Dean of Information & Media Studies
Director of the Centre
Three (3) Core Faculty members
One (1) Ph.D. rep
One (1) M.A. rep

Qualifying Examination Committee (QEC)
The Qualifying Exam Committee is responsible for the administration of the Core Qualifying Examinations, in accordance with the current Examination Guidelines.

Membership:
Three (3) Core Faculty members, one of whom shall serve as Chair
Nominating Committee
The Nominating Committee draws up an annual slate of new committee members which is submitted to the Core Faculty, who can make further nominations if they so wish. The purpose of this committee is to ensure a reasonable balance on other committees between members representing different intellectual strands in the program.

Equity Committee

More information about current membership can be found on our web site at http://www.uwo.ca/theory/People/Committees.html
CORE FACULTY

Members of the Centre’s Core Faculty are appointed from their respective academic units within the university, including the departments of Anthropology, English, Film Studies, French, Information & Media Studies, Modern Languages and Literature, Philosophy, Political Science, Sociology, Women’s Studies, Philosophy & Religion at Kings’ University College, and Global Studies at Huron University College. Core membership is required in order to supervise Master’s and Doctoral theses within the Centre.

Nandita Biswas Mellamphy (Political Science) – B.A., Manitoba; M.A., Western; Ph.D., Toronto. Research Interests: situated at the intersection of Political Theory, Post-Humanism, and Continental Philosophy within the context of contemporary complexifying international societies. She is author of The Three Stigmata of Friedrich Nietzsche: Political Physiology in the Age of Nihilism (Palgrave Macmillan, 2010) and her work can be found in journals such as Contre-Attaques; Foucault Studies; Deleuze Studies; Symposium: International Journal of Continental Philosophy; Paideusis: International Journal in the Philosophy of Education; PhaenEx: Journal of Existential and Phenomenological Theory and Culture; Collapse: Journal of Philosophical Research and Development; and Janus Head: Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies in Literature, Continental Philosophy, Phenomenological Psychology, and the Arts, as well as anthologies such as Horst Hutter’s anthology Becoming Loyal to the Earth: Ecology and Life-Affirmation in Nietzsche’s Vision -- Nietzsche’s Teaching as a Therapy for Political Culture (forthcoming from Continuum Books); Keith Ansell-Pearson’s anthology Nietzsche and Political Thought (also forthcoming from Continuum Books); and the Siemens-Roodt anthology Nietzsche, Power and Politics (Walter de Gruyter, 2008). Professor Biswas Mellamphy’s research interests include Nietzschean political thought, Zoontotechnics, and Post-Humanism (especially in the work of Gilbert Simondon, Bernard Stiegler, and Réne Schwaller). Her current research focuses on ‘larval terrorism’, the militarization of the contemporary political subject, and the changing nature of war under the regime of the ‘war on terror’.

Tim Blackmore (Information and Media Studies) – BA, M.A., Ph.D., York. Research interests: war and technology, the body, self, popular culture, art; trauma and crisis in narrative structures and memory; graphic novels, comics of all kinds; theorizing technology; science fiction and the Machinic Imagination. Books: War X: Human Extensions in Battlespace (Toronto: U of T Press, 2005).

theory and early cinema published in Cinema & Cie, KINtop, Modernist Cultures, New Formations, New German Critique, Polygraph.

and “The Counterfeit Child,” which investigates the hordes of creepy beings who pretend to be children but aren’t, or the hordes of creepy children who pretend to be something other than what they are. Finally, I am the managing editor Horror Studies, an interdisciplinary, international journal dedicated to the study of horror in any media, and am always on the look out for fresh critical blood.

Antonio Calcagno (Philosophy and Religious Studies, King’s University College) – BA, University of Toronto; M.A., University of Louvain; Ph.D, University of Guelph. Research interests: I have special interests in 20th and 21st century continental European thought as well as medieval and Renaissance thought. I work on questions of community and intersubjectivity, statehood, interiority, consciousness, humanism and post-humanism. Publications include: Giordano Bruno and the Logic of Coincidence (Peter Lang, 1998), The Philosophy of Edith Stein (Duquesne University Press, 2007), Badiou and Derrida: Politics, Events and their Time (Continuum, 2007). I have edited Thomas Langan’s latest volume, Human Being (University of Missouri Press, 2009.) I am also Editor of Symposium: Canadian Journal of Continental Philosophy / Revue canadienne de philosophie continentale.

Mark F. N. Franke (Centre for Global Studies, Huron Univ. College) - BA, M.A. U.Vic.; Ph.D. Johns Hopkins. Research interests: subjectivity; relations of space, place, time, movement, and change; political ontology; postcolonial theory; sexual difference and production of gender; feminist theory; responsibility, ethics, and rights; refugee studies; cultural encounter and the formation of identity; political judgement; and citizenship, law, and sovereignty. Publications: Book: Global Limits: Immanuel Kant, International Relations, and Critique of World Politics (SUNY Press, 2001). Articles: published on issues and debates in international ethics and the grounding of modern human rights discourse in colonial interests. Works in progress: a series of interconnecting articles engaging: the spatial limits of international human rights discourse and the inability of this discourse to address human displacement; efforts within international humanitarianism to territorialise refugees; and theorizing rights and ethics in terms of the norms of human movement.

Michael Gardiner (Sociology)– BA, M.A., Calgary; D.Phil, York (UK) Research interests: Bakhtin and dialogical theory; European social theory and social philosophy including poststructuralism, phenomenology, hermeneutics and critical theory; history of social thought; cultural studies, especially the culture of cities; utopianism in theory and practice; social ecology; sociology of the body; ethics; theories of everyday life. Books: Critiques of Everyday Life (Routledge, 2000), The Dialogics of Critique: M.M. Bakhtin and the Theory of Ideology (Routledge, 1992); editor, Mikhail Bakhtin, Masters of Modern Social Thought series, four vols. (Sage, 2003), Bakhtin and the Human Sciences: No Last Words (Sage, 1998); co-editor, Rethinking Everyday Life: And Nothing Turned Itself Inside Out, special double issue of Cultural Studies, 18, 2/3 (Routledge, 2004), coeditor, Rethinking Everyday Life: And Nothing Turned Itself Inside Out, special double issue of Cultural Studies, 18 (2-3), March-May, 2004, 139-159.

Christopher Keep (English) – BA, M.A., York; Ph.D., Queen’s. Edward G. Pleva Award for Excellence in Teaching (2010-2011); Associate Director for Graduate Studies CSTC, 2012 – present. Research interests: the history of writing technologies; the future of the humanities; the discursive construction of gender, race, and sexual orientation, especially in the nineteenth century; the psychogeography of urban spaces; hypertext, virtual reality, and theories of the post human. His articles have appeared in numerous journals, including Victorian Studies, Novel, Nineteenth-Century Contexts, English Studies in Canada, and Romanticism and Victorianism on the Net, and in several essay collections, including Postmodern Apocalypse: Cultural Theory and Practice at the End, Cyberspace Textuality: Computer Technology and Literary Theory; Being On Line: Net Subjectivity, Literary Couplings and the Construction of Authorship: Writing Couples and Collaborators in Historical Context, and Image, Sound, and Touch in the Nineteenth Century. He has edited two special issues of the Victorian Review, one on imperial discourse analysis, and the other on disability studies, and was one of the founders of The Electronic Labyrinth, an online resource exploring the connections between theory and hypertext literature. His most recent work is concerned with the Society for Psychical Research, and the ways in which scientific inquiry into the paranormal and the occult contributed to the modern organization of knowledge.
Mary Helen McMurran (English) – BA, St. John’s College; M.A., New York University; Ph.D., New York University. Research Interests: cosmopolitanism, origins of comparative religion and spiritualities, Enlightenment intellectual history. Her book, The Spread of Novels, addresses the mobility of prose fiction in Europe and the Atlantic arena in the eighteenth century. It shows that the novel emerges as a modern transnational genre because of radical changes in the landscape of translation in the eighteenth century. She has also written articles on The Female American, Aphra Behn, abbé Desfontaines, transnationalism and the novel, and translation practices.

Călin-Andrei Mihăilescu (Modern Languages, Comparative Literature) - BA, Bucharest; M.A., Ph.D., Toronto, (former Director CSTC). Research interests: continental philosophy, postmodern trends, 17th-century philosophy and theology, French thought (20th century). Publications in English, French, Romanian, and Spanish on Pascal, St. John of the Cross, St. Teresa, Plato, Aristotle, Baltasar Gracián, Shakespeare, Montaigne, Cervantes, Kant, Kafka, Benjamin, Borges, Heidegger, Adorno, Huxley, T. Mann, Deleuze, García Márquez, Nancy; Renaissance, Mannerist and Baroque literature and philosophy, eu- and dystopian discourses, semiotics of folklore and myth, taste and kitsch, exile, prosthetic thought, drugs and experience, surrealism, economic aspects of narrative, Central and Eastern European cultural and political issues, creative writing. Books: editor, Fiction Updated: Theories of Fictionality in Contemporary Criticism (Toronto, 1996); Ars Rhetorica (Ottawa, 1996); editor, This Craft of Verse, by J.L. Borges (Harvard, 2000); 16–17. Renastere, Mannerism, baroc (16–17. Renaissance, Mannerism, Baroque; Bucharest, 2002; 2nd ed. 2005); Tara europsita (A Europressed country; Bucharest, 2002); (in collab.) Calendarul dupa Caragiale (The calendar according to Caragiale; Bucharest, 2002; (in collab.) Don Global suit pe cal (The coming of Don Global; Bucharest, 2003); Antropomorfina (Anthropomorphine; Bucharest, 2005); (ed.) Cum era? Cam aşa... Amintiri din anii comunismului [românesc] (What was it like? Something like that... Memories from the years of (Romanian) communism; Bucharest, 2006); Editor-in-Chief, Literary Research/Recherche litteraire (1997-2005).

Matthew Rowlinson (English) – BA, M.A. Toronto; M.A., Ph.D. Cornell. Research Interests: Psychoanalysis, Material culture, symbolic and economic exchange, rhetoric, nineteenth century poetry and poetics. Publications: *Tennyson’s Fixations: Psychoanalysis and the Topics of..." the Early Poetry (Virginia: 1994); Real Money and Romanticism (Cambridge: 2010); articles on national identity and money, Derrida’s legacies, interdisciplinarity, as well as Many topics in nineteenth-century literature and culture.

Joshua Schuster (English) – BA, BA, University of Pennsylvania; MA, Université de Paris; PhD, University of Pennsylvania. My research focuses on American Literature and environmental ideas. I am currently finishing a book on modernist American literature and music in relation to environmental problems of the era between 1900-1950. I am also beginning to work on a new book that discusses the literary, philosophical, and psychological implications of the extinction of animals. I teach courses that cover a range of American writing, as well as courses on environmental literature, contemporary philosophy, and poetry.

Sharon Sliwinski (Information and Media Studies) – MA, PhD, York (SPT). Research interests include the Critical Theory of the Frankfurt School, psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic theory, but also visual studies (especially photography) and the broad history of ideas that fall under the term human rights (humanitarianism, crimes against humanity, genocide, etc.). I am currently working on a book called Dream Matters which is about the social and political significance of dream-life. Recent publications include: Human Rights In Camera (University of Chicago Press, 2011), and "Air War and Dream" in American Imago (2011), and "The Gaze Called Animal" in The New Centennial Review (2011).

John Vanderheide (English at Huron University College) M.A., Ph.D., Western University. Research interests: Literary and interpretive allegory; Comedy; Transatlantic Modernism and Postwar Literature; Adaptation theory; Deleuze studies.

POST-DOCTORAL and VISITING FELLOWS

Eldritch Priest (Visiting Postdoctoral Fellow, Winter/Spring 2015) - Postdoctoral fellow at Université de Montréal in the Radical Empiricism Workshop. Research Interests / Specializations: Sound studies; Affect theory; Sound Art & Aesthetics; Libidinal philosophies; Experimental music; Modernism & Postmodernism. Writes on sonic culture, experimental aesthetics, and the philosophy of experience from a ‘pataphysical perspective. He is also a composer and improviser.

Peter Schwenger (Resident Fellow) – BA, Carleton College: MA, Cornell; PhD, Yale. Emeritus Professor of English, Mount St. Vincent University. Research Interests: theories of reading and of writing; asemic writing; interdisciplinary studies; visual arts. Books: Phallic Critiques: Masculinity and Twenty-first-century Literature (Routledge 1964); Letter Bomb: Nuclear Holocaust and the Exploding Word (Johns Hopkins, 1991); Fantasm and Fiction: On Textual Envisioning (Stanford, 1999); The Tears of Things: Melancholy and Physical Objects (Minnesota, 2006); At the Borders of Sleep: On Liminal Literature (Minnesota, forthcoming).

---

Each year the Centre offers one full-year, or two one-semester, Visiting Fellowships (non-stipendiary) with a provision for library privileges. Visiting Fellows contribute to the intellectual life of the Centre community. Accordingly, they are encouraged to offer a public lecture or reading course on their research projects, and to participate in the activities of the Centre. These fellowships are intended primarily for individuals currently teaching or affiliated with an academic institution, though independent scholars may also apply. Faculty Fellowships are awarded at the Assistant, Associate, and full Professor ranks.

Applications for Visiting Fellowships, including a brief description of a research project and its relevance for the Centre (not more than 1,000 words), an optional project bibliography (up to 2 pages), and a curriculum vitae (C.V.) with the name of two academic referees, should be submitted to the Centre by April 1st of each year.

INFORMATION
For further Information please contact:

Centre for the Study of Theory and Criticism
Somerville House, Room 2345
The University of Western Ontario
London, Ontario, N6A 3K7, Canada

Tel: 519.661.3442
Fax: 519.850.2927
Email: theory@uwo.ca

www.uwo.ca/theory
http://www.facebook.com/theoryandcriticism