SCHOOL of HEALTH STUDIES

is seeking outstanding candidates for a

PROBATIONARY (TENURE-TRACK) APPOINTMENT in HEALTH PROMOTION

The School of Health Studies invites applications from exceptional, early-career scholars for a probationary (tenure-track) appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor. The School of Health Studies (http://www.uwo.ca/fhs/shs), one of six schools in the Faculty of Health Sciences, is home to a large undergraduate Bachelor of Health Sciences program, and contributes significantly to the faculty-wide Health & Rehabilitation Sciences graduate program (http://www.uwo.ca/fhs/hrss), the joint graduate program in Health Information Sciences (http://www.fims.uwo.ca/programs/graduate_programs/phd_health_information_science/), the Interfaculty Program in Public Health (http://www.schulich.uwo.ca/publichealth/index.html), the Masters of Management in Applied Science in Global Health Systems (https://www.schulich.uwo.ca/global_health_system) and the Masters and Graduate Diploma in Applied Health Science (https://www.uwo.ca/fhs/programs/ahs/index.html).

The School of Health Studies is a leader in the generation of contemporary and transformative knowledge with real-world impact in the areas of health and health care, which span a broad range of innovative research programs addressing the health of children, adults and elderly, and vulnerable populations. Our three research pillars include health promotion, health systems analysis and policy, and knowledge mobilization. Our undergraduate curriculum provides students with foundational and specialized training in the personal and social determinants of health. The interdisciplinary focus of the School of Health Studies is unique in the Faculty of Health Sciences, making it an ideal place to examine rapidly evolving health environments and diverse health-related experiences through an integrated, diverse set of disciplinary perspectives.

Qualified applicants must have a PhD or equivalent, with training in a discipline related to health promotion with particular emphasis on maternal and child health or healthy aging. The successful candidate will have a strong scholarly record and be expected to contribute a vibrant health promotion research program that complements colleagues in the School. Several opportunities exist to develop collaborative relationships with diverse groups at Western, including the Centre for Research on Health Equity and Social Inclusion (http://orhesi.uwo.ca/), Cluster of Research Excellence in Musculoskeletal Health (http://boneandjoint.uwo.ca/), Human Environments Analysis Laboratory (http://theheal.ca/) among others. Applicants must have a commitment to and evidence of the ability to provide high quality, innovative and contemporary teaching in the classroom as well as mentoring at the graduate and undergraduate levels. The position will commence on July 1, 2020 or as negotiated. Salary commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Western University (www.uwo.ca) delivers an academic experience second to none. Western challenges the best and brightest faculty, staff and students to commit to the highest global standards. Our research excellence expands knowledge and drives discovery with real-world application. Western attracts individuals with a broad worldview, seeking to study, influence and lead in the international community. Since 1878, The Western Experience has combined academic excellence with life-long opportunities for intellectual, social and cultural growth in order to better serve our communities. With a full-time enrolment of 32,000, Western University is a leading research-intensive university with a full-range of academic and professional programs. The university is located in London, Canada (www.london.ca), a safe, vibrant and welcoming community of more than 350,000 people serving as a regional medical and industrial hub for southwestern Ontario.

Applicants are invited to submit a letter of interest, Curriculum Vita, brief statement of research accomplishments and future plans, the names and contact information of three references, and a completed Application for Full-Time Position (available at http://www.uwo.ca/facultyrelations/pdf/careers/Faculty/Application-FullTime-Faculty-Position-Form.pdf) to:

Dr. Andrew Johnson, Acting Director, School of Health Studies
Arthur & Sonia Labatt Health Sciences Building, Room HSB 222
Western University, London, Ontario, Canada N6A 5B9
Email: ajohnson@uwo.ca

Please quote number HS 203 on all correspondence for this position.
Deadline for applications is February 28, 2020.

Positions are subject to budget approval. Applicants should have fluent written and oral communication skills in English. The University invites applications from all qualified individuals. Western is committed to employment equity and diversity in the workplace and welcomes applications from women members of racialized groups/visible minorities, Aboriginal persons, persons with disabilities persons of any sexual orientation, and persons of any gender identity or gender expression.

In accordance with Canadian Immigration requirements, priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents.

Accommodations are available for applicants with disabilities throughout the recruitment process. If you require accommodations for interviews or other meetings, please contact Dr. Andrew Johnson, Acting Director, School of Health Studies at ajohnson@uwo.ca or 519 681-4119.