

Assistant, Associate or Professor Teaching Scholar and Director of Mary J. Wright Child and Youth Development Clinic

The Faculty of Education, Applied Psychology Cluster at Western University invites applications for a full-time Teaching Scholar (TS) faculty position at the rank of Assistant Professor (Probationary), Associate Professor (Probationary) or Professor with Continuing Status in the area of School and Applied Child Psychology. Appointments made at the rank of Assistant Professor will lead to consideration of continuing status and promotion to Associate Professor, TS at the end of the probationary period (maximum 6 years). Appointments made at the rank of Associate Professor will lead to consideration of continuing status at the end of the probationary period (maximum 3 years). The successful candidate will hold an appointment as Director of the Mary J. Wright Child and Youth Development Clinic, an interdisciplinary practicum and internship training clinic. The period of appointment as Director will be depending on the rank and it is renewable. Rank and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. The effective date of the appointment will be July 1, 2022 or earlier.

The Director of Mary J. Wright Child and Youth Development Clinic will oversee all administrative and training aspects of the Clinic including providing leadership, and supervision for individual and group assessment and intervention, developing strategies and programming to improve training for students and service delivery for clients; and, undertaking competence-based performance evaluations. Reporting to the Dean, the Director will ensure the highest quality of practicum training and hold responsibility for the clinic's budget, management and compliance programs, quality assurance activities, outreach events, and programmatic consultation. In addition to the administrative and instructional aspects of clinical supervision, the Director will be expected to hold a Teaching Scholar appointment and maintain an active scholarship program, ideally focusing on psychological training models. The successful candidate will be asked to actively participate on Faculty committees charged with the responsibility of overseeing the School and Applied Child Psychology program and contribute to the intellectual and professional life of the Faculty, Western University, and the surrounding community through general service and preventive, developmental, and outreach orientations. The successful candidate will be expected to be able to teach in both our graduate and teacher education programs and your application should make explicit your alignment and willingness to each of these levels of programming. The successful applicant will show evidence of contributing to equity, diversity and inclusion in academia and/or clinical practice.

Eligibility for Teaching Scholar appointments is open only to those candidates who either currently hold a Limited-Term or Limited-Duties appointment at Western at the time of recruitment or to former Members who held a Limited-Duties or Limited-Term appointment at the time of the ratification of the current University of Western Ontario Faculty Association Collective Agreement (29 November 2018).

The successful candidate will have a completed PhD in School and Applied Child Clinical Psychology and be licensed with the Ontario College of Psychologists; training and experience in developmental assessment and intervention; teaching and supervision of graduate students in an academic and clinical setting; experience in clinical or related administration; a record of excellence in psychological scholarship/research, preferably psychological training models; experience in schools; experience managing revenue generating clinics; experience with establishing and maintain community partnerships and contracts; and, a strong commitment to professional training of school psychologists and service delivery to underserved and diverse populations is required.
