

Fall Term 2024

Research Ethics

Charles Weijer

Description:

This course will explore ethical issues in human experimentation. The course will review relevant history, an ethical framework for research ethics, and cover core topics, including the research-practice distinction, human challenge studies, contract research organizations, research with children, research with pregnant people, community engagement, equipoise, and research in low resource settings.